Another Day of Her Examination Done.

The Expected Sensations Are Held Back Until Today.

Because Mr. White Could Not Be Present in That Court.

The Chain of Proof Gradually Tightening Around the Apathetic Woman—Her Father's Pious Telegram and His Very Cool Reception.

Some delay was occasioned in the resumption of the Harlan murder case yesterday morning, from the fact that Hon. S. M. White, an attorney for the defendant, had been unexpectedly unable to get a case he had in the Federal Court continued, and was consequently compelled to attend that court to look after the interests of his client. As a result, the testimony adduced in the morning session before Justice Austin was of a minor interest, although some points were made which will evidently have considerable bearing on the case later on. The first witness placed on the stand was ex-Justice Ling, who testified: My name is and I am a resident of this city. I was acquainted with Dr. Harlan, and last saw him in my office on October 6th, between 5 and 6 o'clock. He came there in company with Mrs. Harlan, and wanted me to draw for them a bond for a deed to two lots in Whittier, conveying them to Miss Hattie Woolsteen of Peoria, Ill. I have the deed in my possession, and will surrender it into the custody of the Court, asking, however, that I may be permitted to make a copy of it, in order to place it on record with the remainder of my official acts as notary public. It was about sundown when they called, and the electric light had been turned on in the office. I cannot say as to whether the Doctor and his wife left the office together, as my team was waiting for me, and, as I completed the acknowledgment, I placed the deed in the drawer, and immediately left the office for home. I cannot remember the dress of either, but think the Doctor had on a white hat. My opinion is that he also had a watch on his person, and referred to it during the interview. Dr. Harlan was in his usual mood, being always a man of jovial nature, often making joking remarks. The bond was a rather peculiar one, the consideration being $700, of which $600 was to have been paid on the following Saturday, and the other $10 at any time within the year. He was one of those men who are in the habit of smiling twice to one frown.

Cross-examined by Mr. Wells: I first heard of that bond on that evening when I drew it myself on information I received from Dr. Harlan to the presence of his wife. The lots stood in the name of Mrs. Harlan, who was present all the time the business was being transacted, and who often spoke in connection with the peculiar terms of the bond, asking me once or twice if I was sure it was good. I told her it was as good as any bond for a deed drawn, and while the Doctor appeared to give all the instructions in regard to it, Mrs. Harlan understood the whole transaction. I have never seen Hattie Woolsteen, nor have I ever heard of her in any other connection prior to the disappearance of Dr. Harlan. Both Mrs. and Dr. Harlan have been in my office prior to the occasion I [illegible] my evidence. I have made an acknowledgment for the Doctor before, but unless I look at my record of business could not tell whether it was to a power of attorney or not. I was to have taken a copy of the deed and to give the Harlans the original on Saturday. Hattie Woolsteen never called at my office for that deed, nor did I know anything about it further than the statements to me when I drew it.

Mr. Ling was then asked by Mr. Wells to return with his record of business as a notary public, and on being sworn, testified: I reside in Los Angeles, and am a practical tailor. I have examined that cut in the buggy-top shown me once before.

Mr. Dupuy here asked the witness to particularly examine the edges of the hole in the curtain, and give the result of his examination to the Judge. Mr. Wells here interposed an objection to the admission of this testimony, but on Mr. Dupuy stating to the Court that it was his intention to definitely connect the defendant with that mutilation of the curtain, or he would be content to have the Court order that part of the testimony stricken out, Mr. Simpson was allowed to make the examination and give the result. Mr. Dupuy also stated that the statement of Col. Wells to the effect that the buggy top had been through the fair week and took part in a smash-up and was a week in the shop since the time it was hired by the defendant was not exactly true, as he (Mr. Dupuy) had been directed to examine the curtain twice previous to the time it was examined by Mr. Darcy, and had had his attention called to it by an entirely different person. This statement caused some little excitement among both the audience and the parties interested. The witness then stated that to the best of his knowledge the curtain had been cut on the upper edge of the hole with a knife, but that the lower edge had been cut with scissors, showing as his authority for the opinion that the upper edge was cut through leather and cloth together and had a smooth edge, while the edge cut with scissors had a zigzag edge, as though cut with rather dull scissors.

was the next witness called, and he being sworn testified: I reside in this city, and knew Dr. Harlan. I never made a ring for Mr. Hollingsworth ordered by Harlan, but saw him often in the store. I saw him in the store early one morning, but I cannot remember when, except it was in the early part of the month. He came to have his watch regulated, and I fixed it for him. On neither occasion I have seen him have we had any conversation. I first heard of his disappearance on the Tuesday after the body was found in the ruins of the barn at Compton, and last saw the Doctor some time in the latter part of the week previous to that occurrence. It was on either Wednesday, Thursday or Friday, and was on Seventh street west of Pearl, where Williams street would be were it continued down that far. It was near the Episcopal parsonage. I reside near there, and on the evening of which I speak I was standing in the door, when I saw Dr. Harlan in a buggy drive past me. When he had gone about fifty feet I saw the buggy stop, and Harlan got one foot out on the ground and the other on the step and stood there looking in the direction of the hill, with his face turned toward the northwest. He stood there, and presently I saw him becoming toward some person with his whip, and on looking out that way, I saw a lady walking toward him. On reaching the buggy, the lady got in, and they drove off together toward the west. I did not know the lady, but she wore a gray dress, and had a broad-brimmed hat with the edges turned up.

Cross-examined by Mr. Wells: I can make a plan of the objects of interest and the location of the things I have testified to. (Witness here draws a rough plan of the streets mentioned, which is then filed in evidence on the part of the defendant.) When I first saw Dr. Harlan he was just stopping the buggy and then he stepped out, but left one foot on the step, while he beckoned with his whip toward the [illegible]. The buggy was then about the length of three lots from the door in which I stood, when the lady got into it and they drove off. It could not have been on Saturday that I saw this, as I did not get home until after sunset on that day. It must have been on either Wednesday, Thursday or Friday. [Recalled.] The horse was of a dark

NOT QUITE.

A REPORTED CAPTURE OF ROBBERS PREMATURE.

A Wealthy Party of Porkopolitans Badly "Broken Up" by the Misinformed Anxiety of Their Friends Back East—The Facts.

A few days ago an excursion of thirty Greenville, O., people reached Los Angeles. The party was composed of merchants, bankers and lawyers and their wives. They came out here for the purpose of having a good time, and they were enjoying themselves hugely until day before yesterday, when several members of the party received dispatches asking who of their crowd had been arrested as the main actors in one of the boldest robberies that was ever committed in Ohio. The once happy party of tenderfeet suddenly lost all interest in Southern California climate, and for a few hours they made the telegraph wires fairly sing; but they could get no satisfaction until yesterday morning, when their mail brought a few copies of the Cincinnati Enquirer. One of the head men of the party soon discovered the following item which loomed up under a big "scare-head":

"Dispatches received at the Enquirer office last night tell of the capture and arrest at Los Angeles, Cal., of the Greenville, O., robbers, whose whereabouts have been a mystery to every officer in the State. The arrest is the beginning of the end of the notorious Spayd $15,000 robbery that occurred in Greenville some time last May.

"John W. Spayd is probably one of the best known and wealthiest citizens of Greenville. His wealth is estimated all the way from $150,000 to $200,000. He owns half the town of Greenville, and, singularly enough, remained a bachelor all his life until last spring, when he married a very estimable and wealthy lady. Shortly after their marriage, Mr. and Mrs. Spayd disposed of some real estate to the amount of $14,500. The payment was in cash, and, pending the time for its deposit in bank, Mrs. Spayd sewed it up in her bustle, and hid the whole away in her bed. In the afternoon of the day in question Mrs. Spayd went out, leaving a servant in charge of the house, and when she returned, the money and bustle were gone.

"The robbery created the greatest excitement throughout the State, and was the chief topic of conversation and discussion in police and social circles for some time after. All sorts of theories were advanced as to the identity of the robbers, and some ugly stories were circulated regarding certain members of the Spayd family. The Greenville authorities took charge of the case and ran down every clew that presented itself, without result. Mr. Spayd offered a big reward for the capture of the robbers, and officers all over the State went to work on the case. Considerable money was spent trying to clear up the mystery, and Spayd finally gave it up. About six weeks ago the Witte Detective Agency of this city opened up a correspondence with Greenville parties that ended in Witte taking charge of the case. Officers Brown, DeCourcy and Superintendent Witte himself worked on the case, and visited nearly every town in the State where it was thought a clew might be found. Over $1000 was spent by Witte on a false clew at Cleveland, and up to a few days ago he had a man stationed there. Officer Brown for some reason or other took special interest in the case and went to work on another pointer that it seems was the right one. Believing the robbers to have gone West, he opened up correspondence with the Pacific Coast Detective Agency at San Francisco, of which the Witte Agency is Southern correspondent. Day before yesterday he received word from A. J. Lucas, superintendent of the Pacific Coast Agency, to "uncover" Cleveland, as the robbers and $14,000 of the money had been located in Los Angeles, and last night word of their arrest was received.

"Detective Witte was seen a few moments after receiving a telegram announcing their arrest. At first he refused to talk about the case, but finally admitted that the capture had been accomplished. He showed the telegram from Detective Lucas, received last Sunday, announcing the location of the men. Witte refused to say who were under arrest, but is sure that he has the right parties. Two of Witte's officers started for Los Angeles to bring back the robbers. They will come without a requisition."

The excursionists knew that no one of their party had been arrested, but from letters received from friends in Greenville, they learned that all kinds of rumors regarding them were flying around, and they made up their minds to investigate and see if there were any warrants out for any of their party. They called on Chief Lucas of the Pacific Coast Detective Agency and were told that he was on the lookout for the servant girl, who was in the house when Mrs. Spayd left the money securely sewed up in her bustle. The girl and her lover left Greenville very mysteriously a few weeks ago, and the Cincinnati detectives traced them to Los Angeles and placed the case in Lucas's hands. He and his detectives made a thorough search, but failed to uncover the supposed robbers and so reported to the Cincinnati firm. The excursion breathed once more, and when Lucas promised to send a letter to the Enquirer and the Greenville papers saying that he did not intend to arrest any member of the excursion the tenderfect went to their various hotels in a happier state of mind than they had been in for forty-eight hours. Lucas is still on the lookout for the servant-girl and her lover.

YOUNG MACKENZIE.

His Case Up in the United States District Court.

The trial of Bert A. Mackenzie, on the charge of abstracting a registered letter from a mail pouch destined to Santa Monica, was heard before Judge Ross and a jury in the United States Court yesterday. The Government was represented by J. Marion Brooks, Hon. Stephen M. White appearing for the defendant.

Mackenzie was employed in the postoffice on the 22d of April last in this city, at the princely salary of $40 per month. On the 27th of May following it was discovered that a registered letter containing $40 had been abstracted, and after an investigation was had at the postoffice, the guilt was laid at Mackenzie's door and he was arrested.

Miss Margaret Finn testified to being postmistress of Santa Monica at the time, and to the fact that during the latter part of May she received a card from the Los Angeles postoffice notifying her of the departure of a registered letter for Santa Monica. The letter did not arrive, and she so reported to the Los Angeles office.

John C. Morgan testified that he was deputy postmaster at Santa Monica in May last. He came up to this city and spoke to J. W. Green, the postmaster, of the non-arrival of the package. Mackenzie at that time stated that Blake, who worked with him, had received the package and had deposited it in the mail pouch for Santa Monica. Mackenzie at that time disclaimed any knowledge of the letter. In a subsequent statement he said he locked the mail pouch himself.

Mr. Green, the postmaster at that time, testified that as soon as it was made known to him that a registered letter was missing he called Mackenzie, Blake and Taylor to him and, questioning all three employés, learned that Mackenzie was the one who had locked the pouch. It was a rule for the men receiving registered packages to be sent away to receipt for the same on a book for that purpose, and the rule had been obeyed in this instance. Mackenzie's name appeared on the book as a receipt for other packages besides the one in question. This letter was received from San Francisco on the 25th of May. Mackenzie had entire charge that day, though I am not sure but that Taylor was on duty with him.

W. McCurdy, former assistant postmaster of the Los Angeles office, testified: On the 28th of May, Judge Morgan came into my office and stated he had received a receipt for a package which had not yet arrived, and that he wanted to know where it was. I instituted a search and traced it from the registry room down to the mailing table, and from there to the pouch rack. I found that it was signed for by Mr. Mackenzie. Morgan and myself held a consultation with Mackenzie. He was brought into the room and asked if he could account for it. He said he knew nothing about it. He acknowledged that that was his signature and stated that he placed the package in the pouch. When the question was asked as to who locked the pouch, he did not remember. The conversation took place in presence of Mr. Green, Mackenzie and myself. The record shows there was no other registered package for Santa Monica that day. I took Mackenzie into my room and wanted to know where it was. I asked him what disposition had been made of it. He said he had put it in the pouch and knew nothing more than that. He disclaimed any knowledge of it. He said to Judge Morgan he didn't know who locked that pouch, as Taylor had been in the habit of locking it. He didn't know whether he locked it or whether Taylor did.

The witness illustrated the position of the pouches and stated that it was possible for the drivers and other employés to have had access to them. The drivers come in and help handle the sacks before going to the trains.

The case will close today, no doubt, as testimony for the defense will be introduced this morning.

The court adjourned until 10 o'clock today.

FROM THE PEOPLE.

"The Freedom of the City."

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 27.—[To the Editor of THE TIMES.] The remarks of your correspondent on the subject of the tender of a reception to Gov. Waterman by a few citizens, on behalf of the whole city, are much to the point and express the opinion of others than the writer. I voted for Waterman for Lieutenant-Governor, not because I considered him in any way fit for that rather insignificant position, but because I considered his opponent disgracefully unfit.

But is it not time that a halt was called in the too common custom of individuals of greater or less prominence putting themselves forward as representatives of the city in other than those appertaining to the duties which they have been elected to discharge? For example: A prince of a foreign power claiming both civil and ecclesiastical authority has just been welcomed to this city on behalf of Los Angeles. It is not necessary to detract from the respect due him as a man or a clergyman, but other as good men and as able and pious clergymen have visited this city without it occurring to any person that the city should welcome them. The fact is that this gentleman was received with the extraordinary manifestations of honor because he is a cardinal, a member of the Romish hierarchy. Now, while I can not object to any reception tendered to him by those who belong to the same communion, or by others who saw fit to welcome him, I, as a citizen of Los Angeles, have a right to enter a protest against this being done, whether by the Mayor or others, in the name of the city. Let it be understood that no person can represent Los Angeles except within the narrow limits of his legally delegated authority, whether it be in receiving a Roman Catholic cardinal, a Greek patriarch, a Methodist bishop, the delegates to a convention, the head of an order, or any other man or woman whomsoever. For any man, no matter what his position, to claim to do so is to undertake to usurp a power never conferred.

I would not be understood as censuring our Mayor. I voted for him, and hope to do so again. He has only done what others have done; but it seems to me that those who object to such acts, whether performed by officials or private citizens, should make themselves heard on the subject; and the two instances to which reference has been made offer illustrations of the only point I make, that is, the impropriety of any person or persons undertaking to represent the body of citizens when not expressly authorized to do so. PROTEST.

Public School Facilities.

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 24.—[To the Editor of THE TIMES.] In the issue of your paper on the 21st there is a remarkable communication by "A Subscriber," in which the School Board is severely censured for the crowded and certainly most unsatisfactory condition of our city schools. Brooklyn Heights suffers as much doubtless, no more certainly, than other parts of our city, but when "A Subscriber" states that the children in that locality are given but two hours per day to attend school he has simply told just one-half the truth. Last year the children there could have but a half-day session of three hours; this year they have four hours, unless the parents permit them to "romp on the streets," instead of availing themselves of the full time afforded them.

"To squander 5 cents on a street car to look into a matter" already too apparent is a useless extravagance, even for the well-paid members of the Board of Education. To patient and considerate taxpayers we will say that every possible effort has been put forth to better the condition of our schools. Sites have been selected, plans for buildings accepted and contracts are ready to be assigned. But until the bonds so generously voted can be converted into money we can go no further. To accomplish even this much has necessitated frequent sessions of the Board of Education, in which anxious consultations and plannings have detained us until a late hour of the night. And if "A Subscriber" and the taxpayers whom he professes to represent will, as he insinuates, remember us at the next election, and relieve us of any further gratuitous service in their behalf, we shall be quite content.

In the meantime we invoke the patience and courage of our citizens, assuring them that the evils, regretted by none more than by ourselves, shall be remedied as soon as it is rendered possible by the authorities under whom we serve. THE SECRETARY.

Congressman W. W. Morrow.

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 27.—[Editor of THE TIMES.] Having just read an extract in your issue of the 25th inst., taken from the Santa Ana Standard, wherein the name of Congressman W. W. Morrow is besmirched by being confounded with that of "Bob" Morrow, who is now suffering legal complications in the San Francisco courts, I feel that while your correction of the Standard's willful or ignorant error was good, you did not go far enough.

There is not a man today in our great State of California—and I say it without fear of successful contradiction—be he public man or private citizen, who is so universally respected for his honorable qualities as Congressman W. W. Morrow.

He has represented his district two terms (being now in his second) in our halls of National legislation, and during his incumbency not the shadow of a suspicion has ever attached to any of his acts. He has been the author of many measures beneficial to the interests of our whole State, and is always found striking sledge-hammer blows in the interest of any measure which pertains to the public good. He is one of the few public men who do not pander to wealth for his emoluments, but is affable and kind to all. Ever ready to do that which will inure to the comfort of those less favored than himself, is it a wonder that his friends are jealous of his good name and are always on the alert to combat any attempt to belittle him or his career?

For years I have enjoyed his acquaintance, and until recently been intimate with him, which intimacy is interrupted now only on account of the distance between us, and I can honestly bear testimony that no man ever knew W. W. Morrow without being better for the acquaintance.

E. E. DANFORTH.

The Horse Car Lines.

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 26.—[To the Editor of THE TIMES.] Here it is again, in your yesterday's paper, and with a why? Always with a why. Great Cæsar! Why don't "Observer" collect the evidence, witnesses from that same overloaded, one-horse car, and do a little himself besides howl in print? Let him get the evidence and the list of witnesses and present it to Officer Wright, standing himself on the prosecution side. The chances are that if "Observer" were called upon to testify he would bob up with a Bible excuse, either that he had just got a wife or had a yoke of cattle to break. Officer Wright is overloaded with wicked women and suffering "kids" and can't do all things.

As for the Olive-street church goers, what's the matter with walking and putting the nickel in the church basket, hey?

A FORMER CRUELTY-WITNESS.

Do you want a choice lot for a home by the sea, which commands one of the finest views of the ocean on both sides, Los Angeles and the mountains for a front view? Every day is a panorama. No fogs. If so, we have some choice lots to offer FOR A FEW DAYS. Size 50x150 to 15 foot alley. Price $100; $50 cash, balance $10 per month, without interest, at our beautiful townsite of MEADOW PARK. MEADOW PARK

Showing the surroundings and lay of the land, which is as natural as life itself. The above is in our office for your inspection.

INVESTORS, LOOK AT THIS!

We know of no better place for a good investment than our new subdivision of FLORENCE. Why? Because she stands without a peer in her matchless beauty of scenery and climate. The soil is noted far and wide for its productiveness. For a home in the suburbs we know of no better location.

FLORENCE

Is at the junction of the Southern Pacific and Los Angeles and Santa Ana Railroads, less than six miles from the new Los Angeles depot and has no less than eight trains daily, which makes accommodations to and from FLORENCE unsurpassed for a home or business.

We have made the price very low for a starter, so "First come, first served." $225 and upwards; ⅓ cash; balance in six and twelve months. Clear, pure, sparkling water piped in front of each lot. To the purchasers building the first ten houses in our tract a discount of one-half the purchase price of the lot will be given.

NEXT! NEXT!

"THE PEER OF ALL"

ALDINE SQUARE

Tracts laid out in Los Angeles, Cal.

ALDINE SQUARE will be a place "Of the people, for the people, by the people." The whole tract of ALDINE SQUARE lies between Alameda street and Santa Fe avenue. Its accommodations for going to and from ALDINE SQUARE are not excelled in Los Angeles.

The facilities for reaching ALDINE SQUARE are unsurpassed. The electric road on Santa Fe avenue, running in front of ALDINE SQUARE, and the Southern Pacific Railroad, with its new and adopted passenger station named Aldine Square Station, located corner Jefferson and Alameda streets (all regular passenger trains will stop), makes rapid transit in reaching the center of the city in a few minutes, while the fare on either line will be only FIVE CENTS—5 cents.

For a home this charming tract, away from the turmoil and bustle of the city, surrounded as it is with its orange and walnut groves, is an elysium of comfort, a veritable Garden of Eden.

—PEERLESS—

ALDINE SQUARE

Because it has no key lots, and every lot has the perpetual right for the use of the PARK, which, with its fountain, gravel walks, lawn tennis courts, drives and arbors, makes it the most desirable place to live.

ALDINE SQUARE

—FOR TEN DAYS—

Lots sold at the very low price of $300 and upwards; ⅓ cash, balance in six and twelve months, the present schedule price. After the expiration of ten days the price will be advanced 25 per cent.

The surprise of all is that every one so far that has seen ALDINE SQUARE has purchased, which speaks for itself. We will be pleased at any time to show ALDINE SQUARE

RUMOR has it that Paul Shirley, warden of San Quentin Prison, is to be removed and that Gen. McComb of the Folsom Prison will succeed him. Shirley was appointed by Gov. Stoneman and held over under Gov. Bartlett.

THE holding of two or more offices at one and the same time is a practice peculiar to the Democracy of this State. During the first year of Gov. Stoneman's administration a whole raft of Senators and Assemblymen were appointed to State offices, ranging in value from $150 to $3000 per month.

THE Evening Express asseverates with red face and choking utterance that "THE TIMES hates Gov. Waterman." Without considering it necessary to either affirm or deny the truthfulness of this heated charge, we desire to take the stand and testify in the case of the Express that THE TIMES hates a fool. Sabe?

UNDER the heading of "The Freedom of the City," a correspondent turns up the late Waterman banquent subject in a somewhat new light, discussing intelligently the interesting question of how and by whom the hospitality of the city should be dispensed. The point made is that a broad and clear distinction should be made between the corporation and its acts and the acts of individuals.

THE Herald has found a mare's nest, or made one. Henry George and James G. Blaine are in secret alliance. This fact has heretofore been a profound secret—so profound that it was forced to creep three thousand miles and wiggle in and out of the editorial cranium of our 'steemed contemporary. Though it wasn't much of a secret, it was too large to remain in the aforesaid cranium; and now that it is out and pruited abroad, George's littie racket is bursted and Jim Blaine goes up the flume. What a power is the press! Especially the headitorial part thereof.

ARGUMENT in support of the petition for the issuance of a writ of error in the Anarchist cases commenced yesterday before the United States Court at Washington. Gen. Butler, who has been retained by the Anarchists, is expected to speak today. Tucker, who conducted the Anarchist side of the argument yesterday, alleged that the action of the Illinois courts was repugnant to the spirit and intent of the general Constitution; in support of which allegation he quoted the Fourteenth Amendment, finely analyzing the same with a view to ascertaining the meaning of the words "due process of law." Due process of law would make very short work of the Anarchists if the legal quibbles of big-feed lawyers could be fenced out.

SENATOR BOGGS' removal from the Board of Prison Directors has been the occasion of considerable comment and some feeling. The facts in the case, however, aside from all partisan grounds, fully justify the Governor in removing him. Boggs is a Senator, and should not be permitted to hold two offices at one and the same time. More especially when, as Senator, he is to pass upon measures in which, as prison director, he is personally, officially and financially interested. Attributing partisan feeling to Gov. Waterman relative to the removal of Boggs doesn't come with good taste from the Democratic press. Party bias seems to fit Gov. Waterman as a sentry-box fits a soldier—it touches him nowhere. Since the Governor's accession to power his non-partisan liberality in dealing out appointments has been and still is prominent as Cæsar's nose.

Toohy—Judge.

Denis J. Toohy is the Judge who presides over Department 11 of the Superior Court of San Francisco. Denis has a history, and, according to the press of the Bay City, he is adding some very sensitive and thorny chapters to an already much-variegated career.

Toohy has been for some years a Democrat. He was formerly, however, a Republican, and during the Rebellion occupied some minor positions in the Federal service. About the middle of the seventies Denis J. Toohy edited a small Democratic sheet in San José, which was, perhaps, his first appearance in Democratic affairs in this State.

We next hear of Mr. Toohy as a small-fry lawyer in San Francisco, where he commenced to figure as a leading light in the Irish Land-League movement. In this movement Tooby manufactured a certain prestige, which attracted the attention of Boss Buckley, and from that moment dates the entente cordiale which has since existed between him and the blind manager of San Francisco's Democracy.

Buckley placed Toohy upon the Democratic ticket, and made him Judge. But in making him a judge Buckley also made him what he is today—a man shadowed by the ban of suspicion, a judge broadly and openly accused of corruption; a pass, rather than be brought to which a man possessed of native honor would "Rather be a toad and live on the vapor of a dungeon."

It is difficult to believe the things with which this man is charged by the up-country press. He is accused of having received $600 from Little Pete, the Chinese boss, who negotiated the last known jury bribing iniquity, and the way the money is said to have been squeezed from Little Pete reads like a romance.

Pete was tried before Toohy, and it was noted at the time that the Judge seemed to be unnecessarily harsh with the little yellow boodler. Says the San Francisco Political Record:

"Attorney Nygh shows why the Judge was severe. Somebody wanted money from Pete to mollify him. The money was not paid, and Pete had no consideration. He was locked up at dinner hour on prison fare. He was kept in close custody after the hearing. His bail was raised after the jury disagreed. The Judge refused to stay and make a new bond, and left Pete in limbo. Then at midnight, in the rain, he returned to the court, on some persuasion, approved the bond and set Pete free. The Judge does not remember the persuasion or the person who persuaded. Would not swear that it was not Attorney Regensberger. But Mr. Nygh does swear that during that day Regensberger got $1000 from Pete to be put where it would do the most good. All the facts point to Regensberger as the persuader and the $1000 as the argument."

Four hundred dollars to Regensberger and six hundred to the Judge would account for Little Pete's one thousand. The Record also accuses Toohy with playing fast and loose with the court reporters' fees with the case of the wealthy burglar, Jimmy Hope, and with the Humboldt county convict case.

A most glaring enormity is that recently discussed by the San Francisco Chronicle, in which Judge Toohy is accused of having secretly altered the records of his court in the case of James Mugan. Following are the facts as given by the Chronicle:

"Mugan was arrested in this city on the third of May, 1886, on a complaint made by Sheriff Paul of Tucson, Ariz., charging him with the theft of $700. On the next day a writ of habeas corpus was obtained from Judge Toohy to test the validity of the requisition papers, and Mugan was admitted to bail, pending the hearing and decision, upon a bond in the sum of $500. The hearing was continued to May 8th and again to May 22d, at neither of which times did Mugan appear, and Sheriff Paul, upon examing the bond, found it to be worthless. Mugan was again arrested, a new bond given and approved by Judge Toohy, and on the 29th of May the case was argued and submitted. The case was not then decided, but Mugan was allowed to be at liberty upon a new bond being given.

"Here the genuine record in the case ends, but since Mugan's departure for Mexico the record has been falsified by the addition of these words: 'August 23d. Writ dismissed.' Shortly after Mugan was missed from the city Judge Toohy was asked what had become of the case, and answered that he had dismissed the writ three weeks after taking the case under advisement and had issued a bench warrant for Mugan's arrest. The Judge was informed that the records did not show any such proceedings, but on returning to the record, which had been blank but a few days before, the reporter was thunderstruck at finding the entry quoted above. Strange to say, the entry was in a different ink from the rest of the record and the ink was scarcely dry."

The Bowers-Benhayon Mystery.

The famous Bowers poisoning case has assumed a strange and startling aspect. If the story told by the papers and letters left by Henry Benhayon, the suicide, prove true, then the danger of relying upon circumstantial evidence was never more clearly illustrated.

On the other hand, the circumstances of Benhayon's taking off, the appearance of the room in which the body was found, and the appearance of the body itself, casts doubt upon the alleged manner of his death and plunges the whole subject matter in impenetrable mystery. A brief recapitulation of the case now becomes necessary. The wife of Dr. Bowers, sister of Henry Benhayon, was ill during the fall of 1885, and died in November of that year. The circumstances of the lady's death were regarded with suspicion, and an inquest and an autopsy was had.

Dr. Johnson analyzed the contents of the stomach and bowels. The former showed phosphorescence, and, on heating, gave off a garlicky odor, the usual test for the presence of phosphorous; the fact was established that the woman's death was caused by some irritant narcotic poison, which had ulcerated the stomach and bowels. Such ulceration being the usual result of phosphorous poisoning, the prosecution adopted the phosphorous poisoning theory.

Dr. Bowers was arrested and charged with the murder of his wife. During the trial it was shown that Bowers had insisted on giving her her medicine himself; that it was given in capsules and was followed by vomiting and pain; that she complained that he was torturing her with his medicine; that Bowers was a brute who abused his wife; that she was insured for $14,000 for his benefit; and that of his two former wives, one had died under suspicious circumstances. On this showing he was convicted.

Bowers has been two years in jail, and is now awaiting execution. All hope seemed to have faded out of his horizon when, apparently, a rift is made in the darkness by the supposed suicide of his brother-in-law, who leaves papers and letters exonerating Dr. Bowers and accusing himself of the murder of his sister.

The following from the San Francisco Call smacks of the diabolical:

"If we take the other horn of the dilemma we meet with less irreconcilable difficulties, though it involves some startling propositions. First, as to the dead man. He is found dead on the floor of a room which had been hired several days previously by two other men, who refused to give their names, and who were not seen by the landlady after they had taken the room and made a deposit. He is found lying on the floor of the room, with his hands by his side, his legs stretched out straight, his feet slightly parted. The bed is not disarranged, nor the furniture in disorder. It is assumed that he had committed suicide by poisoning. Now, a suicide does not lay himself out for burial in the way that Benhayon was found. . . . The body was discovered by the landlady early on Sunday morning. It was then cold. If the man committed suicide he must have done it on Saturday. Benhayon was at his office on Saturday morning and at his father's home on Saturday afternoon, and his father says he was 'in good spirits.'

"The theory of suicide is so difficult to maintain in the face of these objections that another theory—that Benhayon was murdered—has been suggested. This theory points, of course, to Dr. Bowers as the murderer, through accomplices. He is, so far as the public see at this time, the only one who could have been benefited by Benhayon's death, and he could only have been benefited in case it was made to appear that Benhayon had murdered his sister. The murder theory supposes that Bowers had conceived the idea that by fastening the crime on Benhayon the Supreme Court would order a new trial, or the Governor would pardon him. It supposes that the two men who hired the room at 22 Geary street were agents of Bowers, and hired it for the purpose of placing the body there; that these two, by threats of instant death, compelled Benhayon to write and sign the so-called confession and the letters; that as soon as he had written and signed them they killed him, by what means does not yet appear, carried his body to the room on Geary street on Saturday night, and made their escape out of the house without being discovered."

DOES not the ad interim editorial writer of an intemperate evening paper (whoever he may be) not know that he runs great risk of being set down by uncharitable and vigorous-speaking folk as an exceptionally unclean pero, with no respect for himself, for the journal which he prostitutes, or for its readers or any body else? Does he not realize that his published utterances are enough to justify such a conclusion? His lineage may even be attacked if he keeps on in the strain strained at in yesterday's issue. A sycophantic and slavish tool, in a state of rage and with a pen in his hand, is not a pretty spectacle to exhibit himself before the eyes of the people.

IN the event of the reëlection of Gen. Diaz as President of Mexico, certain London bankers propose to broach a scheme for the readjustment of Mexican finances. London bankers are famous readjusters. They readjusted the finances of India, those of Egypt and Siam. In all probability, the least our Mexican neighbors have to do with London readjustment the better it will be for Mexico.

Thirty Thousand Thieves.

New York comes closer to the complaint of Anglo-mania than most of its citizens will admit. The World says: "A statistician who has given attention to London affairs estimates that there are 30,000 thieves in the British metropolis. We come very near those figures in New York by including our boodle politicians and their dividing friends."

A Prisoner Comes to His Aid—Four Convicts Killed.

Other Coast News—The Evidence Against McCord Becoming Very Damaging—The McDonald Family's Dirty Linen Again Aired in San Francisco Courts.

By Telegraph to The Times.

YUMA (Ariz.), Oct. 27.—[By the Associated Press.] Seven Mexican convicts attempted to escape from the Territorial prison today. While the prisoners waited inside the main gate, previous to commencing outside work, Supt. Thomas Gates passed within the walls. When about thirty feet inside Librado Pueblo threw an arm about him, at the same time drawing a knife and grasped the superintendent, while other convicts silenced the gate tender by threats. They then marched him out toward the river. The superintendent hung back struggling violently and to shoot, all the while endeavoring to bring the convicts in line with the guards fire. In the meanwhile Kose Lopez and Fernando Vasquez broke into the office, smashed the desk drawer and took a revolver and returned. Teopolo Baca and Ricardo Padillo ran to the superintendent's dwelling armed with a pick and shoe knife and of Secretary Rule. Not obtaining them they rushed down the hill. Padillo met and attacked an unarmed guard, Fiedly, with a pick. Clinching, they fell off the grade, narrowly escaping serious accident, when Padillo was captured with the aid of Turnkey Behan. During the mêlée with the Superintendent, Rule obtained a revolver and rushed to the latter's aid and struck Pueblo with the butt.

As Lopez returned from the office with a pistol, he fired at Rule but missed, whereupon Rule shot him. Rule also shot at Vasquez, Puebla striving to kill the superintendent, and finally stabbing him in the neck, through the back, holding the knife with both hands and twisting it around, inflicting a fearful jagged wound nearly four inches deep. Barnett Rigas, a life convict, instantly picking up the revolver Lopez had dropped fired into Puebla twice.

TRYING TO REACH THE HEART

SEVERAL CONVICTS KILLED.

Guard Reynolds shot Albino Villa twice while trying to escape. Guard Hartly hit four of five convicts whom he shot at. Bustamente, Lopez, Pueblo and Vasquez are dead. Villa is badly hurt, but will recover. There were no escapes.

McCORD'S TRIAL.

Very Damaging Evidence—Witnesses Afraid of Criminating Themselves.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 27.—[By the Associated Press.] Juror Wood was examined as a witness in the McCord case this morning, and repeated the testimony he has already given, to the effect that Frank L. Northey offered him $250 to give a vote favorable to the railroad company in the Wright case, and that he (Wood) afterward called on McCord, who repeated the offer.

Testimony was offered this afternoon, showing that McCord held no stock in the Geary-street road at the time of the alleged bribery.

Late this afternoon Frank Northey was put on the stand, and declined to say whether Morrow had hired him to bribe Wood, on the ground that a truthful answer would tend to convict him of felony. He also declined to tell about the meeting at the Pearl saloon and his offer to Wood, on the same excuse, and also about his evidence before the Grand Jury.

NOTES FROM THE BAY.

Mrs. McDonald Held for Trial—Lawyer Lowenthal's Case.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 27.—[By the Associated Press.] Mrs. Clara Belle McDonald was given a preliminary examination in the police court this morning on the charge of assault to murder her father-in-law, Richard H. McDonald. Defendant was held to answer, and her bonds were fixed at $12,000.

Mrs. McDonald was released this afternoon on bonds secured by her attorneys.

Both Clara Belle McDonald and her father-in-law, R. H. McDonald, filed demurrers today. The former demurred to the complaint of her husband, charging her with having unlawful connection with Augustus Seneca Swaim at various times and places. She says the charge is too indefinite to answer. Her father-in-law presents several grounds upon which to demur to her complaint, in which she asks for $500,000 for his cruel and malicious treatment of her. The demurrer states that plaintiff has not shown by her actions during the past year that she cared a particle whether or not she ever had the society, comfort or protection which the presence of her husband would give her.

ARRIVAL OF A FRENCH CRUISER.

Late this afternoon the French cruiser Duquesne entered the harbor of San Francisco. The Duquesne is the flagship of the Pacific squadron and is a cruiser of the first class. The Duquesne was built in Rochefort in 1877, and has had an active career guarding the interests of France in the Pacific. She is steelclad, and a formidable ram projects from her bow. Her armament consists of seven steel breech-loading guns on deck, each capable of throwing a ball of nineteen centimeters in diameter. She has fourteen guns below, each throwing a ball of fourteen centimeters in diameter. Her length is about 345 feet, beam forty-five feet. She is fitted with engines of 1800-horse power, which can propel her at a speed exceeding seventeen knots an hour.

The Government Gradually Working Around to the New Public Building for Los Angeles—National Notes.

By Telegraph to The Times.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 27.—[By the Associated Press.] A Washington special to the Examiner says: It was stated at the supervising architect's office today that the survey of the lot on which the new public building at Los Angeles will be erected had been shipped from that city on the 21st inst. It is expected to reach here tomorrow. As soon as it arrives sketch plans for the buildings will be prepared. This will take about four weeks. The plans will then be submitted in accordance with the usual custom to Secretaries Fairchild and Lamar and Postmaster General Vilas. If approved by these gentlemen the plans will be returned to the supervising architect, when an order will be forwarded to the superintendent at Los Angeles to begin the work of excavation.

EDUCATING INDIANS.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27.—From the annual report of John Riley, Superintendent of Indian Schools, to the Secretary of the Interior it appears that the aggregate expenditure by the Government for the education of Indian children during the year was $1,095,380, of which $719,853 was expended on account of Government boarding schools and $308,399 for the support and education of pupils at contract boarding schools, most of which are under the control of religious denominations. The whole number of Indian children between the ages of 6 and 16 years is 39,821; of this number 14,933, or about 35½ per cent., attended school some portion of the year. An uniform system of text-books and the study and teaching of English only are recommended. The report says that too much stress cannot be laid upon the importance of preparing native teachers, and to this end suggests that a normal school department be established at some of the large schools. The Superintendent also makes the following recommendations: That an industrial boarding school be established near the Missouri River adjacent to the Sioux reservation; that schools be provided for the tribes in Nevada; that a commission be appointed and empowered to make a thorough examination of the whole subject of Indian education.

GOV. SEMPLE'S ANNUAL REPORT.

Eugene Semple, Governor of Washington Territory, in his annual report to the Secretary of the Interior, estimates the population of the Territory at 143,670, an increase of over 16,000 in the last two years. The taxable property of the territory, exclusive of railroad property, is given at $50,683,890, an increase of nearly $300,000 over last year. Settlement on public lands, of which nearly 17,000,000 acres remain unsurveyed, has been retarded by that fact, by the uncertainty of Northern Pacific titles, and by extensive Indian reservations, etc.

Sixty-four thousand children are of school age, and there is an average daily attendance of 22,000. Labor is hardly equal to the demand. The salmon fisheries yielded $3,124,000 during the year.

Confederacy Day Observed in Georgia.

Jeff Davis Indulges in Slobber Over a Confederate Flag,

Which Is Kissed by the Old Man, His Family and the Multitude.

The Corner-Stone of Gen. Lee's Monument Laid at Richmond With Masonic Rites—Wade Hampton's Speech—Lee Pronounced Greater Than Washington.

By Telegraph to The Times.

CHICAGO, Oct. 27.—[By the Associated Press.] The News Macon, Ga., special says: Yesterday was "Confederacy Day" in Macon. A special feature of the occasion was a review of Confederate veterans by their old President. The procession was to have marched by Davis in review, but when the procession was opposite Davis the veterans broke ranks and swarmed about their chief. The police endeavored to keep them back, but they shouted: "All the policemen of Georgia cannot prevent us from shaking hands with Jeff Davis."

The enthusiasm reached a climax when some one handed a confederate battle-flag to Davis, who grasped the tatters of the flag and pressed them to his lips. The air was full of such expressions as "God bless Jeff Davis!" "God bless the flag!" and the entire multitude was in tears.

Mrs. Davis and the children kissed the flag and with each kiss 5000 huzzas went up. When the flag was handed back to the multitude men snatched all the available tatters and pressed them warmly to their lips. Pretty soon Davis arose and said:

"Friends and Brothers: I am like that old flag, tattered and torn by storms and years. I love it as a memento of what your fathers did and what I hoped you would do. I will see you again."

LEE'S MONUMENT.

The Corner-Stone Laid with Masonic Ceremonies.

RICHMOND, Oct. 27.—[By the Associated Press.] Richmond's big day was ushered in with a misty rain. Despite this, however, thousands of people were early on the streets. At a few minutes before 11 o'clock the procession began to move. At the head of the line came the Chief Marshal, Gen. Wade Hampton, riding side by side with Gen. Fitzhugh Lee; then followed the Governor's staff, assistant marshals, Virginia's Confederate Veteran Camps, Veterans of Maryland, line volunteer infantry, Virginia and North Carolina Artillery, and then various civil organizations. The whole made such a display as has never been seen in Richmond. Dense crowds packed the sidewalks along the whole route of march, and the enthusiasm of the people was given vent to by almost incessant cheers.

When the procession reached the monument grounds it was raining hard. It was decided to postpone the reading of the poem and delivery of the oration until this evening, The corner-stone of the Lee monument, however, was laid with impressive Masonic ceremonies. Notwithstanding the disagreeable weather, about 20,000 people witnessed the ceremony.

The hall of the House of Delegates was packed tonight. Many were unable to obtain admission. Gov. Lee called the gathering to order and introduced Gen. Jubal Early to preside. Gen. Early was greeted with thunderous applause. He spoke of the formation of the monument association, paid an eloquent tribute to the ex-President of the Confederacy, and regretted his absence on this occasion. He then introduced Gen. Gordon McCobe, who paid a glowing tribute to the late Capt. James Barron Hope, the gifted author of the poem which he then read.

Col. Charles Marshall, military secretary of Gen. Lee, then delivered the oration of the day. On the conclusion of Col. Marshall's oration, Gen. Wade Hampton made a few remarks, in the course of which he said that he regarded Lee as even a greater man than Washington.

OFF TO CANADA.

The Cashier of the New York Sub-Treasury a Defaulter.

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—[By the Associated Press.] Henry Martin Jackson, cashier of the United States sub-Treasury here, has gone to Canada, and examination of his books shows a defalcation. The amount which Jackson took with him to Canada is estimated from $12,000 to $30,000. The treasurer does not believe the amount much exceeds $10,000.

Jackson is a son of the aged secretary of the American Bible Society, is 36 years old, and has been married twice. It is said that his relations with his second wife have not been very pleasant, and two weeks ago Mrs. Jackson went home to her father. It is believed that family troubles were the primary cause of Jackson's flight, and that he took the money in a lump. He has been clerk in the sub-treasury here for years, having been appointed under a Republican administration, and holding his place under the new Democratic chief.

TORONTO, Oct. 27.—Henry M. Jackson, the defaulting paying teller of the United States Sub-Treasury at New York, has been here, but the police state that he has gone West.

MURDER OR SUICIDE?

Benhayon's Death Still Under Investigation.

Expert Testimony as to the Handwriting of the Confession.

The Witnesses Swear That It Was Penned by the Deceased.

Mrs. Higson's Story Discredited in Part—A Chemist Testifies that He Refused to Sell Poison to Dimmig—Lowenstein Has a Female Champion.

By Telegraph to The Times.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 27.—[By the Associated Press.] The inquest in the Benhayon case was resumed this evening. For an hour before the doors were opened a large crowd surged in the corridors of the old City Hall, and the officers had great difficulty in preventing the people from breaking open the doors leading into Judge Toohy's courtroom. The first witness was James Maglon, who stated that he had seen Benhayon during the past few weeks with a memorandum book in his possession.

BENHAYON'S HANDWRITING.

R. J. Perrin, an actor, testified that he had known Benhayon three years, and had been very intimate with him. Benhayon had once written part of a play for him, which witness produced, and said he was familiar with the deceased's handwriting.

Coroner Stanton produced the three letters found in the room with the body, and witness said the writing looked like Benhayon's, and he felt sure it was. Perrin also said that he had never heard Benhayon speak of suicide. Had last seen him alive on Saturday afternoon, when Benhayon invited him to call at his office on Monday.

MRS. HIGSON DISCREDITED.

Deputy Coroner Johnson testified that while Benhayon's body was lying in the morgue, Mrs. Higson, the landlady of the house No. 29 Geary street, where the body was found, called at the morgue and desired to see the remains, which were shown her. After looking at the face and body several minutes, she said that she identified Benhayon as the second man who called on her to see about renting the room, and who paid her $5. Johnson said that Mrs. Higson was positive in her identification.

AN EXPERT'S OPINION.

H. C. Hyde, an expert in hand-writing, was next called. He stated that during today he had given a very minute examination to the three letters found in the room with the body, and also to certain letters and documents acknowledged to be in Benhayon's writing. He had compared the writings very carefully, and had no hesitation in saying that the three letters left in the room were in the same hand-writing as the letters known to have been written by the deceased. Hyde said that Benhayon's hand-writing was a very unusual one, being stiff, cramped and not flowing, but in all respects uniform, and one which would be very difficult to copy. He said that in the three letters there was not a character which could not be found in the other writings of Benhayon, and he saw nothing in the confession written to the Coroner which would cause him to doubt for a moment it being written by Benhayon.

ANOTHER EXPERT.

George C. Hickox, another expert, testified that he had made a careful and minute examination of the writing, and had no hesitancy in saying that the confession and other letters left in the room were written by Benhayon. He said the writing appeared to be normal and not made under any excitement, and certainly not under dictation. Writings from dictation, witness said, could always be detected, as the breaks in the sentences as spoken or read by the person dictating would always appear in the writing, and there was not the slightest evidence of this in any of the letters.

Mrs. M. H. Parker, living at No. 22 Geary street, described the finding of Benhayon's body in room 21 on Sunday morning.

Ah Sam, the Chinaman employed in the house, testified to finding the door of room No. 21 locked on Sunday morning, and to opening it and finding the body on the floor.

BENHAYON'S NIECE.

Tilly Levy, Benhayon's niece, stated that she last saw her uncle alive on Saturday afternoon, when he promised to return in the evening and take her to the theater. She said he appeared cheerful as usual when he left.

MORE ABOUT POISON.

F. Falk, druggist, stated that he knew Benhayon from childhood and never considered him very bright. He said that a few days after Mrs. Bowers' death Benhayon brought him a pill and capsule and asked him what they were. The pill had part of the gelatine coating broken off, and after smelling it Falk pronounced it phosphorous. He was not able to tell the contents of the capsule. He said Benhayon told him that they were part of the medicine which had been given his sister by Dr. Bowers, and Falk advised him to take them to Dr. Dennis, the police surgeon. Witness said that Benhayon had never at any other time talked to him about poisons, and had never mentioned cyanide of potassium to him.

Richard Bensinger, another druggist, testified that a week ago J. A. Dimmig had called at his store and asked for cyanide of potassium, stating that he wanted it to remove stains of nitrate silver, but he had refused to sell it to him.

The inquest then adjourned until tomorrow evening.

A MYSTERIOUS YOUNG WOMAN.

A young woman who said she lived in Stockton, but refused to give her name, this morning appeared in a store where A. Lowenstein, a witness in the Benhayon case is employed, and said she was one of the women who had a room at 29 Geary street, and from whom Lowenstein testified last night that he received the invitation to call, which he afterwards did. The woman said that though it might compromise her to make the admission, she was willing to do it, as she did not desire Lowenstein to get into trouble on her account. She said she would appear at the inquest this evening and testify to the above facts.

Lavish Royal Visitors.

[London Paper.]

The Emperor Napoleon was most profuse when he visited England in 1855; but the most magnificent visitor ever known in the annals of the English court was the Emperor Nicholas, who, when he was here in 1844, left $10,000 to be distributed among the servants of Windsor Castle, while the housekeeper there was given a parure of diamonds worth $5000. The six Lords who were in waiting during his visit each received a splendid gold snuff-box, with the Emperor's portrait set in diamonds; each equerry and the grooms in waiting got a similar snuff-box with his Imperial Majesty's cipher in diamonds; a bushel of rings, watches and brooches were distributed among minor functionaries; $12,000 was given in charity, and $2500 for the cup at Ascot, which was continued annually since that was the King of the Belgians' horse, he came over to attend the marriage of the Duke of Albany.

HIRED TO DRINK CHAMPAGNE.

Dudes Who Get Big Salaries for Swilling It.

The wine agent has to visit all the watering-places at this time of the year, and, remaining between three days and a week at each place, treat all who will accept his invitation in the principal bar-rooms of each resort, says the New York Sun. If he is a first-class man he draws a salary of from $5000 to $10,000, and has all his expenses paid. He makes no effort to sell a bottle of wine, but simply drinks it lavishly, treats to it like a lord, and keeps the crowd impressed with all the wonderful qualities its friends ascribe to it, and the landlord with the generosity of the firm he buys of. Such an agent is followed in a few days by a salesman, who also treats, but only the landlord or saloon-keeper.

In the winter the salesmen of the highest order visit not only the principal bar-rooms in the principal cities, but also the most prosperous gambling hells and houses of ill-repute, in each of which they loosen the bonds of the imprisoned wine as kings used to free jail-birds on their coronation days. The visit of a first-class wine agent is a great event wherever he goes. He is a prince of good fellows, chosen on that account. He can sing; he knows the newest and funniest stories, the latest gossip about the turf, the stage, the palace bar-rooms and the demi-monde, and he can drink as only fishes are supposed to be able to do. He knows all the public men who drink in public, all the actors, and all the bar-room wits and heroes. He poses like Fortunatus—always spending money till daylight, and having just as much, apparently, the next night.

The employment of a New York club man and dude as the public drinker or advertiser (at some say $10 and some say $20 a day) for a New York agency of a French house has stirred Beaver street, the center of the wine trade, as it never was stirred before. At first the report was not credited, but the astonishing raid of broken-down dudes on that street for positions of the same sort in rival houses has convinced the agents there that this novelty in the business is not a popular delusion.

The head of one of the most famous wine houses in this country says that he has recently received applications from scores of broken-down men about town who say they would like to be employed at high salaries to open champagne free of cost to the glory and honor of any house that will employ them.

THE "DOMESTIC" PROBLEM.

Various Suggestions for the Consideration of Home Mistresses.

[Cassell's Family Magazine.]

A change in social sentiment would produce an equal economic change. It is the tendency of the times to degrade and not to elevate household service, and to discourage American girls from choosing the employment of "servant" on account of its implied social degradation. Ladies who read Carlyle, and who take pleasure in Herbert's often quoted lines upon the divinity of drudgery, have a manner of considering their maids the inhabitants of a different world from their own.

While their theories are sound on the dignity of labor, their practice places laborers in a lowly position. Housework will be elevated when it is regarded as a business honorable and respected. If the mistress would hire her servants as her husband in trade hires his clerks, the relations between the manager of the house and the laborers would be on the sound basis of political economy, and not on a social or sentimental footing. As in other fields of labor, thorough training would be expected, and the girl who aspires to service would learn her profession as the book-keeper learns to keep his accounts. In order to maintain a contented household, and to encourage the best efforts of her servants, the mistress would aim to be impartial, kind and considerate, as the farmer or merchant endeavors to gain the affection and respect of his workmen.

The business principles which regulate the household can be applied still higher to the public part in the domestic service question. In many European countries governmential supervision regulates household service. Servants in some places possess conduct books, without which they cannot find situations. The mistresses note the girl's behavior in this book, which is countersigned by the police. Why could not the system suggest an American plan of regulation? A supervising board of domestic service, composed of the prominent matrons of city or town, would be a useful department of municipal government. Its duties would be the supervision of intelligence offices, and the careful oversight of the unprotected girls, as well as prevention of fraud against housekeepers, and its good results can be predicted as one answer to a difficult problem.

IN WASHINGTON'S DAYS.

How a Gentleman Dressed for the Seaside in the Last Century.

[Illustrated London News.]

Fashion, in the matter of dress at the seaside, was an exigeant then as it is now at a fashionable watering place, and the following advice to a gentleman is given in the London Chronicle, August 16 and 18, 1787: "For the morning provide yourself with a very large round hat. This will preserve your face from the sun and wind, both of which are very prejudicial to the complexion. Let your hair be well filled with pomatum, powder and bear's grease and tuck it under your hat. Have an enormous chitterlin to your shirt, the broader the better, and pull it up to look as like the pouter pigeon as you possibly can.

"A white waistcoat without skirts and a coat with a collar up to your ears will do for an early hour; and, if they say your head looks like that of John the Baptist in a charger, tell them you are not ashamed to look like an apostle, whatever they are. Your first appearance must be in red morocco slippers, with yellow heels; your second in shoes with the Vandyke tie; your third in Cordovan boots, with very long roweled spurs, which are very useful to walk in, for, if you tear a lady's apron, it gives you a good opportunity of showing how graceful you can ask pardon. Your fourth dress must be the three-cornered hat, the Paris pump and the Artois buckle."

The Anarchist Cases in the Supreme Court.

J. Randolph Tucker Opens the Ball for the Doomed Men.

Attorney-General Hunt Replies for the State of Illinois.

Chief Justice Waite Disposed to Ask Questions—The Rights of Foreign-Born Citizens an Important Issue—Ben Butler Makes a Characteristic Point.

By Telegraph to The Times.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27.—[By the Associated Press.] Anticipation of the argument before the United States Court today upon the motion for a writ of error in the Chicago Anarchists' case attracted a crowd of eager people, who seemed as anxious to gain admission to the courtrooms as if the Anarchists themselves were to be present in chains to argue their own case in person. More than an hour before the court assembled the room was densely packed with people. Even out in the corridor there was a crowd endeavoring to at least get a glimpse of the interior of the courtroom. The audience was destined, however, to be at least for a time disappointed. When the court was called to order at noon, and candidates for admission to the bar had been sworn, the Chief Justice announced that the court would proceed with the unfinished business of yesterday.

THE CASE OPENED.

About 1 o'clock Tucker opened the argument in support of the petition for a writ of error in the case of the Anarchists. He said it was not necessary for him to show, as conditions precedent to granting the writ, that the action complained of in the court below, was actually repugnant to or in violation of the Constitution. It was only necessary to show that a conflict had arisen; that there was a question whether the action complained of was not repugnant to the Constitution. That was enough to give this court jurisdiction. It was not necessary to show repugnancy, but only conflict. If there is conflict then this court has jurisdiction, and if it has jurisdiction then the petitioners are entitled to the writ as the right policy. This court, he said, had been known to deal liberally with a petition for a writ of error in a criminal case involving issues of life and death. In a case where life was about to be taken away in violation of the Constitution. Tucker then proceeded to make a careful analysis of the Fourteenth amendment, and attempted to ascertain the meaning of the words, "due process of law."

In his argument Tucker quoted the second clause of the Fourteenth Amendment to the Constitution, to the effect that no State shall make or enforce any law which shall abridge the privileges or immunities of citizens of the United States. Among the "privileges and immunities" thus granted by the Fourteenth Amendment were, he contended, those set forth in the first ten amendments to the Constitution. It had been maintained, he said, that the first ten amendments to the Constitution were limitations of Federal power only, but it was his belief that, unless the privileges and immunities were especially said to be merely limitations of Federal power, they were privileges and immunities which come within the purview of the Fourteenth Amendment, and were guaranteed by it.

JUSTICE WAITE'S QUERY.

Chief Justice Waite: Then you would bring all questions to this court. I cannot conceive of any question which cannot be brought here, if the Fourteenth Amendment makes the privileges and immunities to which it refers include all those of the first ten amendments.

Tucker said he would admit that it was a new question, but he would make the assertion that the right to be exempt from unreasonable searches and seizures, the right of freedom of speech, the rights of a citizen against self-accusation and the right of a citizen not to be twice tried by a jury are secured to him by virtue of the Constitution of the United States. This being so, the Fourteenth Amendment comes in and says: "No State shall make or enforce any law which abridges the rights or privileges of a citizen."

Tucker then referred to the limitation of the right to peremptory challenge to which they had been driven, to the seizure of letters, private papers, etc., and their use as evidence, and said that this was a violation of the Fourteenth Amendment. In conclusion, he said:

"We have a right, in any judgment, to be heard on the question whether the Constitution has been violated in order to compass the conviction of these men."

THE ATTORNEY-GENERAL'S REPLY.

Atty-Gen. Hunt then addressed the Court in behalf of the State and in opposition to the motion for a writ of error. To warrant the issuance of the writ it must appear, he said, from the record first that there is a Federal question involved, and that such question was raised and decided in the State court. The Attorney-General said that so far as the petitioners rely upon anything contained in the first ten amendments, they can have no standing in this court. The Fourteenth Amendment is equally foreign to any right, privilege or immunity here claimed by the petitioners. The record will show that the complaint is not that the State made errors in enforcing a law which deprives petitioners of any of the privileges or immunities guaranteed by that section, but that they are deprived of rights by an erroneous construction of the law placed upon it by the trial court of the State. As to the alleged unreasonable search and seizure, Mr. Hunt said that he would like to know how a criminal's instruments of crime could be legally taken from him. He knew of no process by which it could be done if they were his own. The question for the Court, however, was not how was the possession of these things obtained, but rather what do they prove?

The Attorney-General then took up the case of the prisoners Fielden and Spies, and said that he understood that it would be urged by counsel on the other side that they being foreigners—Fielden an Englishman and Spies a German—were protected by the treaties between the United States and their respective Governments; that they would have immunity because the treaties provided that citizens of England and Germany living in the United States should have all the rights and privileges guaranteed by law to citizens of the United States at the time the treaties were ratified.

BUTLER HAS A WORD.

The Chief Justice: "In what respect it is said that this violates the citizenship of Great Britain?"

Gen. Butler: "They were to have the privileges of Americans at the date of the treaties, and among those privileges we contend, was trial by jury under the laws then in force. No law could be passed to change their condition under the organic law, the highest law."

Attorney-General Hunt replied that if this were so then prisoners without being citizens were privileged persons above the laws of the State which they set at defiance.

At this point the hour for adjournment arrived and further argument was postponed until tomorrow.

Probably no system of practice ever adopted has been so universally successful as that introduced by Dr. Williams for the cure of Catarrh, Throat Diseases, Bronchitis, Asthma and Consumption.

CATARRH.

Catarrh is often regarded by the patient as a cold in the head, and he often expresses his astonishment at his remarkable tendency to contract a fresh cold; indeed, he declares that he is scarcely free from one cold before he takes another, and yet he is always exceedingly careful; it is also a matter of surprise to him that the cold always seems to settle in the head and throat.

At times many of the symptoms of Catarrh may seem to abate, and the patient is led to hope that the disease is about to wear off; but another class of symptoms soon appears, and he learns to his horror that instead of recovery from the disease, it is somewhat changed in its character and has extended to the throat. A sense of weariness is sometimes felt in reading, speaking or singing, hoarseness at times occurs, a sensation of dryness is felt in the throat, or it appears that some foreign substance, as, for instance, a hair, obstructed the throat; there becomes a sense of languor and fatigue, the breath lessens upon a little exertion, a short, hacking cough, a peculiar sound in clearing the throat, a feeling as though there was not room enough in the chest to breathe; these and other symptoms occur after the disease has made considerable progress. Then it is a time when consumption is about to begin its dreadful work. Up to this time the progress of the disease may have been slow, and the patient may, in expressing his confident hope that it will "wear off," declare that he has had the catarrh for years, and has not seemed to become much worse, and trusts that he will "by-and-by" recover. But this delusion is the grand error which has peopled our cemeteries with consumptive forms, as all forms of catarrh end finally in consumption.

Inhalations are applicable in all diseases of the respiratory organs, but must be prepared for each individual case as they severally require.

By the employment of proper inhalation in the form of medicated vapor (not steam or spray) we are able to produce immediate and direct action upon the diseased surface in the pharynx and nasal passages, for air will find its way into the most remote and intricate cavities, where it is utterly impossible to make fluid applications. By these means every can be cured.

Persons desiring treatment by this system of practice can use the remedies at home as well as at our office, and which will cause no inconvenience or hindrance to business whatever.

I have seen so many of these cases cured that I do not consider any case hopeless unless both lungs are seriously involved. Even then the inhalations aid us in dissolving the mucous and in contracting and healing the cavities, which nothing else can do with the same success.

The very best references from those already cured.

CONSULTATION FREE.

She was followed on the same subject by Rev. I. L. Spencer.

Revs. A. M. Hough, E. W. Casswell and D. H. Cox were appointed a committee to arrange for a camp meeting.

Stocks and Bonds.

By Telegraph to The Times.

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—Money on call was easy at 3½ to 4 per cent.; closed offered at 3½.

Prime mercantile paper, 6@8 per cent.

Sterling exchange, dull but firm at 4.81½ for 60-day bills; 4.85¼ for demand.

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—The stock market today was less active, and its movements were quite irregular. General interest was absorbed in a few stocks which were affected by influence peculiar to themselves. General sentiment was still bullish, but traders were in favor of reaction, and in the absence of any great demand for stocks, succeeded in keeping the prices down to the level of last night. Closing prices show irregular changes, though advances are in a majority, and the only important decline was in Kansas and Texas, which lost 1⅝ per cent., while Manitoba is up 1¼ per cent., and Oregon Navigation and Western Union 1 per cent each.

Government bonds were dull but firm.

TWO FRIENDS MEET.

"Hello! old fellow. What have you been doing to yourself? You look like a subject for the undertaker," exclaimed the man on the right.

"I have been taking mercury and potash mixtures until they have nearly ruined me," squeaked the old man on crutches.

"And I," said the other, "have been taking the genuine Swift's Specific, which has built me up from the first dose."

SWIFT'S SPECIFIC.

Nature's own remedy, made from roots gathered from the forests of Georgia. The method by which it is made was obtained by a half-breed from the Creek Indians, who inhabited a certain portion of Georgia, which was communicated to one of the early settlers, and thus the formula has been handed down to the present day. The demand has been increasing until a $100,000 laboratory is now necessary to supply the trade. A foreign demand has been created, and enlarged facilities will be necessary to meet it. This great

A HORROR.

A FATHER BOUND OVER FOR THE BASEST OF CRIMES.

Debauched His Own Daughter, a Child of 15, Who is Ignorant of the Horror of Her Situation—In the Toils.

Not quite three months since, a middle-aged, rough-appearing man who was chiefly remarkable for his heavy under jaw and a brutish demeanor, accompanied by a young and somewhat good-looking girl, certainly not more than 15 years of age, and who had a peculiar appearing large wart on the top of her nose near the eyes, took one of the small stores under the sleeping-rooms of the New Denison House, at 514 South Main street, and opened it out as a fruit and cigar stand. The girl by her kind and pleasant ways made many acquaintances, and the ladies for many blocks around were in the habit of going there for what fruit was needed at their tables. To these the girl used to talk sometimes, and always introduced her father into the conversation, saying what poor health he had and how hard it was that he had to work sometimes to enable them to keep things together.

By this talk and her great affection for her parent, the trade increased at a great rate and the business was being continually enlarged until it was up to yesterday one of the best-paying little fruit stands in the city. Among other tales poured into the ears of the women who got on speaking terms with the girl, was one to the effect that they had, previous to their arrival in the city of Los Angeles, resided in Denver, Colo. What business the man had followed there is not known, nor is it known why he left there for Southern California, unless the story told by the girl has something behind it. She states that they were doing very well in that city, and had begun to save money, when one night, without any previous notice, her father had told her to be ready to start in the morning for a long journey. They had not many articles of furniture, so the preparations were easily made, and they on the following day took the train and came to this city.

To some of her acquaintances the girl has said that her mother was gone, but did not state where she had gone, or whether she had left the girl and her husband, or the man and the girl had left her. To other parties, among these Mrs. Watson, the manager of the Home for Friendless Women, the girl said that her mother died when she was but a year old. Which story is correct, or whether either of them is truthful is hard to tell. From the time they commenced business here they have been going under the name of Moore, the father giving his name as Henry C. Moore, and the girl as Laura.

About two weeks ago a young man named Hess went to work at the New Denison as waiter, and was put in a room on the ground floor in which another waiter had a cot. The first night Hess slept in the room he was awakened by a noise in the next room, and by cutting a small hole in a part of the partition which was made of canvas he was able to look through into the next room, where the noise had come from which woke him. Peering through the hole he saw the man Moore in bed, and in the same bed with him saw the girl he claimed was his daughter. Astonished by what he saw, Hess in the morning told his partner of the circumstances and they both agreed to look the matter up, and, if it proved that such was the case, give the information to the proper authorities.

Accordingly, on the following night they both kept watch on the movements, and in a very few moments discovered that the statement made by the young man, Hess, was correct in every particular. Being both satisfied of this fact, they determined to find out if possible whether the two really were father and daughter as they pretended, and by keeping their ears open the next day, heard the girl often address the man as "dear papa." Being now satisfied on this point, one of the young men, named A. Aikmen, who was acquainted with Mrs. Watson, went to that lady and told her what was going on. Mrs. Watson, being powerless to act without the assistance of the officers, went to Chief Darcy, who at once detailed Officer Dunham, a comparatively young member of the force, to look the matter up.

That night, before the officer went to the New Denison, a telephone message was sent from the police station to the New Denison, to the effect that the police had received information to cause them to believe a burglary was intended in that vicinity, and for the boarders not to be worried if they heard any noise of a man walking around the hotel in the night, as an officer had been detailed to be there on special duty to look after the burglars, and would probably enter the corridor of the hotel during his watch. Dunham then put on a light suit of tweed, and covering up his star, went to the room occupied by the two waiters, and standing on a barrel, was by this means enabled to look over the partition into the room occupied by the Moore girl and her father.

The store occupied by the Moores, their bedroom and the bedroom of the waiters is all one room, but divided off into smaller compartments by wooden partitions about eight feet high and from that height to the ceiling filled in with canvas cloth. Through this cloth the boys had already cut one hole but the girl discovering it, had fastened it up. They then cut another, and it was through this that Officer Dunham saw the two go to bed together on the night of the 25th inst. That night nothing happened during the hour the officer kept his watch, so he went away with an understanding with the boys, who, taking him to be a waiter out of a job, had promised to do the best for him they could, and had shown him the hole in the partition for the fun there was in peeping over, that he would come back on the next night and have a little talk with them over the prospects of getting work.

The next night, to be able to identify the pair, the officer went into the store, and, buying some fruit there, stood chatting with both of the suspected parties for a few moments. Then he went into the boys' room again, and, when he heard the two going to bed in the next room, again took his stand on the barrel. This time Moore and his daughter were engaged in killing flies with fly powder, which they shot from a small air gun. Having had a good time with the flies, they retired to the same bed. By the light of the electric lamp in front of the building, which was very strong, the officer saw enough in a few moments to satisfy himself, beyond any doubt, that the crime of incest had been committed.

A warrant was sworn out before Justice Austin yesterday morning charging H. C. and Laura Moore with that crime, and accompanied by Mrs. Watson, Deputy Constable Fred Smith went up to the store occupied by the accused and arrested the man, while Mrs. Watson went into the inner room to see its arrangement, and talk to the girl. After lodging the man in prison, Smith went back after the girl, who had, however, told Mrs. Watson that the charge was false. Moore stated to the constable that the girl was his daughter, but that, although they slept in the same room, it was in separate beds. Moore then did not know that his daughter was under arrest, nor that Mrs. Watson had seen the other room, and found that there was but one bed in it and no bedclothes for another, even if there had been another in the room or on the premises, which there was not.

Upon being arraigned the accused waived time and demanded an instant examination, calling on E. R. Willis as his attorney in the case. W. S. Chell, one of the deputy district attorneys, appeared for the people, and the examination, at the request of the defendant, was held with closed doors. Mrs. Watson did all in her power to explain to the girl, previous to the trial, that the crime with which she had been charged was one of the worst on the calendar, but she seemed to take it as nothing out of the common, apparently taking no interest in the proceedings, but remaining as brazen as at first.

The evidence, as given by Gus Hess, A. Aikman and Officer C. P. Dunham, was so conclusive that the testimony of the defendants, which consisted of a general denial, amounted to absolutely nothing. Not only did the various phases of the crime been committed in the house, but even when out together it was proven that they frequently took liberties with each other as only exist between man and wife. One thing was very evident in the proceedings, and that was that the brute of a father had, from the early child-hood of his daughter, taught her such habits, until the girl had been made to believe that she violated no law in their intercourse, and that what they did in that respect was nobody's business but theirs.

Under these circumstances Justice Austin put the defendants under bonds for their appearance for trial as follows: Two thousand dollars for the man and $300 for the girl. In default of these amounts they were confined in the County Jail to await their trial.

LIVELY TIMES AT FLAGSTAFF.

Employees of the Mineral Belt Railroad Make a Raid.

If reports be true, the people of Flagstaff have had lively times of late, especially those interested in the building of the new road from Globe City to Flagstaff. The road is 400 miles long, about forty miles of which is already built. The Mineral Belt road is currently reported to be in straightened circumstances, and for several months past has been unable to meet the demands of the men on construction work. There have been about 1500 men employed, and last week an organized band boarded a construction train and riding to the "Arizona supply store," made a demand for the money due them. Upon a non-compliance of their request a general riot was inaugurated. Stones and missiles were thrown, and several were injured. It is stated, though the report is not official, that two men were killed. The employés came off victorious, and the directors and supply men were obliged to depart, and are now scattered throughout different sections of the country. One of the gentlemen is now in San Francisco and another is in this city.

A TIMES reporter late last night called on the latter, but could not ascertain the facts of the matter, though no positive denial was made as to any trouble having taken place. An Arizona Sheriff started with a body of men to overtake the construction train, but has not made any arrests as far as yet learned.

Eugene Carberry, late of the Pacific Coast Detective Agency, has gone into business for himself.

Rev. Dr. Schreiber will lecture this evening at 7:30 in the Synagogue in English. Subject: "Prophecy and Inspiration."

The gentlemen of the Simpson Tabernacle will give a social this evening at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Warners, No. 616 Hill street.

The Bicycle Club of Los Angeles has perfected arrangements to go by train on Saturday to San Pedro, and then take a run on the "masheen" to the lighthouse and return.

The Los Angeles Athletic Club is contemplating having a race on Thanksgiving day for reporters on the dailies. It is intended to start the race by the sounding of a fire bell.

The concert given last evening by the Heine Quartette was a rare treat for the lovers of music. The performance was all that could be desired in point of execution, and was greatly appreciated by a large and critical audience.

The members of the Park Literary Association will tender a reception to their president, A. W. Rider, this (Friday) evening at 7:30, in the parlors of the First Baptist Church, corner Fort and Sixth streets. Elaborate preparations have been made for an enjoyable time.

OUR NEIGHBORS.

Orange and Vicinity.

ORANGE, Oct. 27.—[Correspondence of THE TIMES.] Fires in the mountains east of us raged extensively last week.

All the packing-houses are now rushing the raisin business.

Water is so plenty that the fine pumping plant, which proved such a marked success in its line, has been locked up for the season, and will not again be run until next summer.

Mr. Ellis of Earlham is expected home soon, and it is reported that he is bringing five carloads of excursionists to that town; we also hear that the citizens will open their houses to receive the strangers, so that none will be obliged to go elsewhere for accommodations.

John Small has returned from his visit East, and will now probably settle in Los Angeles, though this valley has been his home for about ten years past.

Mr. and Mrs. Burnette of Earlham met with a sad loss Sunday, the 23d, in the sudden death with croup, of their only son, aged 4 years.

The popular hotel, Vineland Home, has changed hands, Dr. Bailey and wife retiring and Mr. and Mrs. Tiffany taking their places. As the new proprietors have had experience in that branch of business, they will no doubt keep the house fully up to its present standing.

The old Orange Hotel is being cleaned up and refurnished by George Weitz, and will be open for guests in a few days. Orange is preparing to take good care of its share of "the coming thousands."

At the street-car stockholders' meeting on the 24th favorable reports were received with regard to the cars and dummy engine, which, by the way, are to be furnished by a Los Angeles firm, and it was decided to allow citizens along the line from Orange to the Southern Pacific depot, a distance of two miles, to extend the road to the latter place, the same to be operated with, and as part of, the Orange, McPherson and Modena street railway.

The water in the irrigating canals will be turned out Saturday, the 29th, for thirty days, during which time the "Kerby fill" will be cemented and various other repairs made. A.

Clearwater.

CLEARWATER, Oct. 25.—[Correspondence of THE TIMES.] The Coöperative Colony are steadily pushing their new river improvement, and will have the road completed in a short time. A steam pile-driver is now at work driving the piling for the dam or breakwater rapidly, and the channel and levee will probably be completed within a week or ten days, when the water will be turned into the original riverbed. This will enable the colony to offer for sale about 600 acres, more or less, of the finest land in this section.

Work on the new schoolhouse will commence next week, and school be opened as soon as the building is ready.

Mr. Grinnell has moved into his new house on Vermont avenue, and Mr. Henry Harrison's new building on Ocean avenue is nearly completed, and will be occupied by him in a few days.

All of the new arrivals seem more than pleased with their location and the natural advantages of this section.

Mr. and Mrs. Miller are genial hosts, and make all who visit here feel at home, but we need a hotel and good store. It seems strange that some one does not embrace these business opportunities. Now all our supplies must be brought from either Downey or Compton, and visitors must go there for hotel accommodations.

Messrs. Harrison and Glidden will open a land office on Ocean avenue within a few days—the first in town.

Mr. Ralph E. Hoyt, the president of the colony, will return from Chicago in about two weeks. FIGARO.

Lugonia.

LUGONIA, Oct. 27.—[Correspondence of THE TIMES.] The weather here this fall has been unusually fine for drying raisins, so that most of the first crop is already cured, in fact some of our people have already marketed their raisins. The price paid thus far has been 5 cents per pound. Some of our growers feel safe in holding for better prices.

There is considerable building going on here at present, especially in the neighborhood of the Wilson & Berry block.

Railroad graders have now finished their work, and we are now anxiously awaiting the tracklayers. L.

Pomona.

POMONA, Oct. 27.—[Correspondence of THE TIMES.] The social event of the season in Pomona occurs this evening, when the Pomona City Guards will be mustered in. The military programme will be succeeded by a grand banquet at Brown's Hotel, in which the elite of Pomona society will participate.

People's Store—Special Bargains.

One of our leading offers today consists of a rare chance in lace pillow shams at 75c. a pair. These goods are large size, worked in sightly antique patterns, interwoven with red, and, all in all, are a very desirable ornament. They are worth fully $1.50 a pair.

Another rare special today, and one that we do not get a chance to offer but once in a great while, is an immense line of gent's merino shirts and drawers at 44c. each. This is a heavy, extra fine quality, close knit and fine gauge, and the proper garments for wear and comfort during the coming season. Our line is complete in all sizes, and the quantity so large that we are compelled to sacrifice them at 88c. a suit, just half their value, on account of lack of room. These goods are an exceptional bargain.

In our dress-goods department we place on special sale a line of French camel's-hair beiges, in choice mixtures, at 40c. per yard. These goods are entirely new, 38 inches wide, and the material of the most endurable texture.

In the same department, a line of British cashmere beiges, double fold, at 19c. a yard. We have this line in several desirable shades of brown and gray mixtures. They are worth fully 30c.

In our underwear department we have several choice bargains to offer. Each one is an every-day and desirable article, and one which everybody needs, and which, if bought today, will make quite a saving to the purchaser.

Heavy white fleece blankets $1.19 each; worth $2.

In our hosiery department we offer a line of ladies' striped hose at 19c a pair. This is an entirely new line and embraces among them all the new colors, such as heliotrope, apple-green, gobelin blue, mahogony and others too numerous to mention. They are worth fully 25c a pair.

In our trimming department we offer a line of new effects in worsted braid, snake trimmings in all the latest and desirable colors, at 35c a yard; worth 50c.

In the same department we have reduced for today only, a line of beaded panels to $1 each; their regular price is $2.50. They are used for either fronts or sides, and enhance the appearance of the costume ten-fold. We have not a great many to offer, so advise an early call.

In our notion department we offer a line of German-silver brooches, set with attractive Rhine stones, at 25c each; worth 50c.

French basting cotton, 500 yards on a spool, 3c each.

An Opportunity Seldom Offered.

The Santa Fe Railroad Company are largely interested in the new town of Santa Fe Springs, at Fulton Wells. Consequently, all the projected improvements will be rapidly pushed until completed. This is the only resort within seventy miles of Los Angeles where first-class medicinal springs are found. It will, therefore, always be filled with health-seekers. The enterprising firm of Byram & Poindexter have secured 200 acres immediately adjoining the best side of this town of Santa Fe Springs, and will sell no town lots at all. They offer it only in blocks of from four to ten acres, at low acre prices, on easy terms. This gives buyers an opportunity to make handsome villa homes or small farms, just beside a railroad depot, handsome new hotel and other extensive improvements. Any purchaser of his property can double his money by subdividing into lots. Call on us for maps and further particulars. Byram & Poindexter, 27 West First street, Los Angeles.

THE STAR BOOT AND SHOE HOUSE

30 and 32 N. Spring St.,

HOMER C KATZ, Manager.

Mr. Ed F. Bourne, the efficient and worthy cashier of the United States Express Co., Des Moines, Iowa, says: "From the lack of exercise and from close confinement to office work, I have been troubled with habitual constipation. I have received more benefit from St. Patrick's Pills than anything I ever tried. I gave them a thorough test and am now in perfect health. I hereby recommend them as a pleasant and reliable medicine." They do not gripe nor cause the sickness occasioned by the operation of almost all other cathartic pills or medicines. Sold by C. H. Hance, 77 and 79 North Spring street.

No one is well equipped for a journey without a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhœa Remedy. In an emergency its value cannot be estimated. Sold by C. H. Hance, 77 and 79 South Spring street.

A GOOD ONE.—Mr. James Marsh, of Aten, Neb., after an experience of four years in using and selling Chamberlain's Pain-Balm, says: "It is the best and most reliable liniment ever produced." A fifty cent bottle of it will accomplish more in the treatment of rheumatism, lame back or severe sprains, than five dollars invested in any other way. A great many cases have been cured by it, after being given up as hopelessly incurable. It promptly relieves the pain in all cases. Sold by C. H. Hance, 77 and 79 North Spring street.
